Dear Mr. Brown:

Thank you for your letter of November 18, 1991, concerning environmental sensitivities.

Officials of my Department are working on a number of fronts with the research community, both within the Department of National Health and Welfare and externally, concerning environmental sensitivities. I am pleased that the initiatives being undertaken are seen as being helpful in dealing with the concerns of affected persons.

Discussions have taken place with members of the Canadian Psychiatric Association with regard to central nervous system dysfunction and environmental sensitivity. Although a meeting of experts is at the exploratory stage, my officials continue their collaborative efforts in this area.

Should you wish further information with regard to my Department's activities in this area, please contact:

Mrs. Barbara Ouellet
A\Director General
Health Services and Promotion Branch

With every best wish.

Yours sincerely,
